

Abstract

The invention relates to a closing lid. It is characterized in that the sealing element 15, consisting of an elastic material, is connected via engaging elements 20 with counter-engaging elements 25 of the covering element 10 consisting of a hard component, and that the sealing element 15 presents a contact flange 30 and, opposite to same, at a distance, at least one elastic sealing lip 35.

Principal drawing is Fig. 1